A bright and characterful two-bedroom split-level conversion set across the first and top floors of a handsome Victorian building. The home has been re-plastered and redecorated throughout, with new carpets and a recently updated bathroom, creating a fresh and move-in ready feel.

A living and dining room makes a welcoming centre to the home, while the separate kitchen has timber worktops, good storage, and a handy breakfast bar. Upstairs, a principal bedroom sits beneath the eaves with wooden floorboards and plenty of space to zone for work or dressing. The first floor hosts a peaceful second double bedroom and a smart contemporary shower room, refurbished around two years ago with metro tiling and brassware. There is also scope to extend onto the roof (subject to the necessary consents), offering exciting potential for the future.

Angles Road is a quiet residential turning just off Streatham High Road, so you are moments from everyday amenities and independent cafés, restaurants, and shops. Green space is close at hand with both Streatham Common and Tooting Bec Common within easy reach. Transport is excellent, with Streatham and Streatham Hill stations both around a 15-minute walk away, providing Thameslink and Southern services to London Bridge, Blackfriars, and Victoria, plus frequent buses along the High Road.
