DESCRIPTION:

This attractive home has been remodelled and updated by the current owner and has adaptable living accommodation with scope for further enlargement with planning previously passed, although now lapsed, for a double storey extension.

Currently there is a large entrance hall with feature spiral staircase, recently refitted kitchen breakfast room with utility, a dining room with step down to the living room with its feature open fireplace, a family room and cloakroom. Upstairs you will find five bedrooms, two with ensuite facilities, and further family bathroom.

The property is accessed via double opening gates leading to a sweeping driveway providing extensive off road parking and access to the double garage.

To the side and rear are extensive grounds circa 1½ acres with far reaching views beyond.

Surrounded by woodland and rolling countryside, Farley Hill is a popular village and retains an active cricket club and bowling club. Many community led activities centre around the Victory Hall which has provided a century of service to the locals.

The nearby market town of Wokingham has undergone a complete regeneration and now provides a fabulous range of shops including restaurants, bars, coffee shops, supermarkets, a boutique cinema and bowling alley. With the addition of a new leisure centre, this all provides for a lively, thriving town centre. More comprehensive shopping facilities are provided by Reading town centre, which is also home to the 2nd busiest interchange railway station outside of London. The location provides convenient access to the country's motorway network and is a popular place to live for commuters wanting a life in the country.

NB There is a public footpath that crosses the rear paddock, although it may be possible to have this rerouted with a Public Path Order (PPO) which would need to be granted by the local authority.
