DESCRIPTION

Extremely well presented and incredibly well lit Dutch Victorian home (one of five on the street) with underfloor heating and wood flooring throughout, this superb family home offers a charming blend of both traditional and contemporary features with a light and breezy accommodation comprising an impressive entrance hall, double reception room with incredible height of 3.5 metres and an extended substantial glass kitchen on the ground floor with light maximisation conservatory and unusually 4 metre unusually high ceilings. Offering its own light-well, there is a further reception/media room, shower room and utility room on the lower ground floor (with a fully tanked basement and full height that can also serve as a an additional bedroom/nanny/granny apartment). The original planning included two further bedrooms in this area. A beautiful glass wall staircase leads to the first floor offering a cloakroom and grand bedroom suite with dressing room and lavish bathroom. The dressing room may also be used as a study as it offers a full sized window. The top floor offers two further full sized double bedrooms, family bathroom and an elegant and comfortable library/study area. The bedroom facing the garden boasts a cute Juliet balcony. This uniquely bright house further benefits from very generous and thoughtful in-built storage throughout and a very sunny easy-to-maintain west facing garden with an abundance of light from all sides. The house has been refurbished with elegance and sophistication retaining both comfortable living arrangements for family appeal and contemporary appeal for entertaining purposes.
